Subject: Re: SOTHA - Second Draft of Amended Declaration

Hi Kevin,

- In the design guidelines it says that a house shall total no more than 5750 square feet. I believe that some properties have the right to build larger than that.

In the general guidelines it states that houses shall conform and harmonize with existing structures as to external design. Given the diversity of existing design in terms of materials, color, siting and seclusion, any proposed new construction would have an open door to developing what ever they see fit.

- In regards to landscape and watering, what wold constitute a water shortage? Who would determine this? If one has developed their landscaping according to county regulations and has the well capacity to support it, the board would be responsible for thousands of dollars worth of lost vegetation and trees by prohibiting landscape irrigation.

- The development fee of $1./ sq ft. is for road impact repair and not to fund an architectural review as the review committee does not get compensated. The impact should be based on the distance from Snowmass Creek road the construction is. Thanks, Sid Schneider/ Lynn Goldsmith On Feb 21, 2012, at 11:12 AM, Kevin Michelson wrote:
